

Web and Print Publishing Permission

Peggy Silva has adapted this permission for the express purpose of seeking publication for student-generated writing for the Souhegan Writing Awards.

Souhegan High School utilizes a variety of technologies to support student learning needs. As part of the many technological applications employed in curriculum and co-curricular activities, we publish a variety of teacher and student projects and club information on the Internet. All information must be authorized by the designated school staff member before being published. This is similar to information being published in a newspaper. Your signature below acknowledges permission for the student's writing, photograph, and/or work to be published on Souhegan High School's network and/or web pages, or in outside media outlets.

I hereby give permission for writing, photographs, and/or work to be electronically displayed and produced by Souhegan High School, and/or published in print for a general audience and/or an audience of students and educators. I hereby release Peggy Silva and the Souhegan Cooperative School Board from any liability resulting from or connected with the publication of such work.
